The planning, observation & assessments package

Wonder where to start with planning, observations and assessments? Bit of a minefield isn't it?!

It's good practice to do these on a regular basis, and when the new Early years foundation stage comes into effect in September 2008, Ofsted will require evidence that you are doing this.

When I came away from my ICP (DHC unit 1) course I was astounded at how much we were expected to do! From what I could see, even my daughters nursery didn't do so much planning! I nearly packed in childminding there and then! Had a pack like this been on the market, I don't think I would have been so daunted!

Let magicminding take the strain for your business!

This package offers a variety of templates with examples on how to use them. You can decide how simple or fancy you want yours to be!

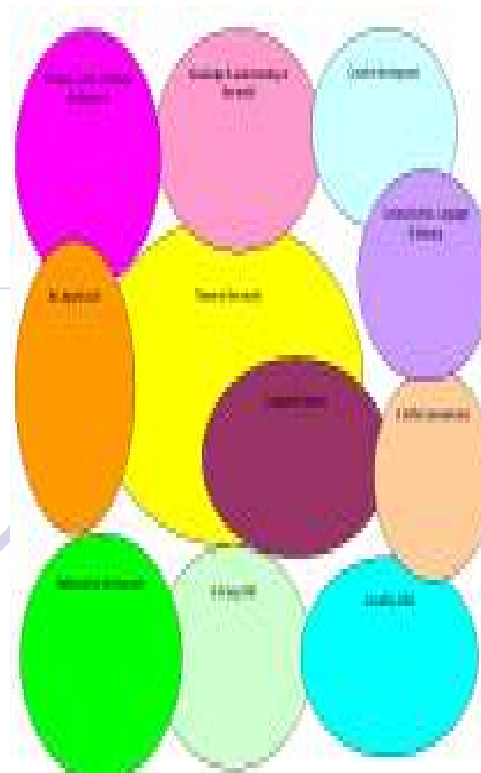

Everything is covered, birth to three templates, foundation stage paperwork, weekly, monthly and annual planners, ideas for themes and much more! Then I look at keeping records, making observations, linking them to Ofsted.

Also included is the first 100 words that children are taught to read, Jolly phonics sounds and some charts for children to learn days of the week and the weather!

And of course a permission slip is included with a disclaimer for things you haven't observed in your setting.

The second part of the package is an activity pack full of ideas to help with filling your weeks!

Example below of one of the monthly planners.
